

port for duty. J. J. Dempsey, truckman, Hook and Ladder Co. No. 4, fined two days' pay for neglect of duty.

S. Dandek, 23, 1547 Austin av., missing since last Saturday. Believed suicide.

E. J. Petru, 1708 Center av., victim of holdup men. $760 cash and jewelry.

Miss Johanna Carpenter, 24, 4165 Ellis av., struck by auto of Chas. Foster, 334 W. 58th st. Hospital. Broken leg. Foster held.

Francis Woods, militiaman, rejected by sweetheart. Tried to kill self. Wrote request that he be buried in an American flag. Then gun wouldn't work.

Psychologically woven rugs are to go into the office of Pres. A. W. Harris of N. W. university. He chose light colors that will make him "merry." Interesting, isn't it?

Detective Alcock has a very keen ear for music. He heard the chimes of a mantel clock, recognized the peals as those of a clock stolen from a fish market, and pinched his man. Clock must have been "pealing" to him.

Cook county commissioners are fitting out a gym with dumbbells and exercisers so that the jurors may keep in trim during long trials.

Peter Schiladi, laborer, killed by Burlington train.

Michael Rocco, 3, 523 N. Union st., seriously burned. Caught fire from kitchen stove.

A. Payton, 45, private policeman, at Gary, Ind., killed by engine in Illinois Steel Co.'s yards. Third man killed there this week.

Mrs. T. W. Restorick, 25, 2534 Orchard st., suicide. Gun.

BITS OF NEWS

Washington.—Vice President-elect Thomas R. Marshall is here.

New York.—George C. Grutz, fire insurance adjustor, convicted as member of arson trust, sentenced to 22 years and 6 months in Sing Sing.

New York.—All street cars in New York must be equipped with steps not higher than 15 inches above ground on and after Jan. 1, 1914.

Los Angeles.—A. J. Hein, in cell at city jail, became despondent over arrest for disorderly conduct and slashed eyeballs from their sockets. Laid in cot bleeding until morning.

Portsmouth, O.—John Hatfield's bandits, after holding up train, fought battle with posse led by Hatfield's uncle, Sheriff Greenway Hatfield. Several reported killed.

Mt. Clemens, Mich.—40 passengers on Rapid Railway car, owned by Detroit United Railway, put off at small station when car was seized for unpaid taxes.

New York.—Irving Schrag posed as detective to aid wayward girl. Was remanded to jail by judge, who called him "an astonishing young ass."

Orange, N. J.—Zebastio Torcivio won verdict of $273.75 against hodcarriers' union because it kept him out of work when he couldn't pay $5.